SECTION ONE ABOUT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

What information do we collect and process?

We collect and process your personal information because you are or were a member, or are or were connected to a member of the Plan. We also collect personal information if you contact us in connection with your membership of the Plan.

We collect and process the following categories of personal information about you:

- personal contact details – names, titles, addresses, telephone numbers and email addresses;
- information about you – dates of birth, gender, marital status, dependents and next of kin;
- payroll information – National Insurance numbers, payroll numbers, bank account details, tax codes, salary and employment information; and
- pension benefits – information about the pension benefits that you have accrued, investment choices and expression of wish forms.

What sensitive personal information do we collect and process?

We usually only ask for sensitive personal information when it is required to help us make a decision in relation to your rights under the Plan. For example, we may request:

- health information / medical records – we may ask you to provide health information if you request payment of a benefit that can only be paid if you meet certain medical criteria (e.g. ill health early retirement benefits). In addition to receiving this information from you, we may receive medical information from third parties such as your doctor or a third party occupational health provider; or
- other sensitive personal information – we may ask you to provide other sensitive personal information (e.g. information about your personal relationships) if it is relevant to help us decide on an internal dispute resolution procedure.

In addition, certain categories of sensitive personal information (e.g. race, ethnicity, religious beliefs and sexual orientation) may be revealed on formal documentation that we process in order to identify the recipients of benefits under the Plan (e.g. birth certificates, marriage certificates, driving licenses and passports). You may also decide to provide us with sensitive personal information voluntarily (e.g. when raising queries or making a complaint).

How do we collect your personal information?

When you join the Plan, you and/or your employer provide personal details so that we can create your membership record.

This information is updated whilst you are a member of the Plan. Updated information may come from:

- you (e.g. if you get in touch to let us know a new address);
- your employer (e.g. updated salary and payroll information); and
- other third parties (e.g. if you contact the Plan's administrator to update your personal information or if HMRC provides us with information so that we can deduct the correct level of tax).

In addition, we may request additional information in certain circumstances (e.g. if you request to transfer your benefits to another pension scheme, if you apply for ill health benefits or when you ask for your benefits to start being paid).

Why do we process your personal information?

We use this information to:

- | | |
|---|---|
| • set up your membership record for the Plan; | order to seek to be able to pay full benefits as far as possible; |
| • manage your membership of the Plan; | • help the Plan's sponsoring employers comply with their legal and regulatory duties; |
| • send you information that is relevant to your membership of the Plan; | • communicate with members with information about the Plan; and |
| • calculate, pay and settle any benefits that you are entitled to; | • improve our information and knowledge of pension schemes generally. |
| • comply with our legal and regulatory duties; | |
| • help manage risks and liabilities in the Plan in | |

What are our legal grounds for processing your personal information?

In order to comply with our legal obligations

As the Trustee of the Plan, we are under legal obligations to process your personal information in order to comply with pensions and other relevant legislation, the Plan's rules, court rulings and Pensions Ombudsman decisions. For example:

- legislation sets out certain things trustees must do (e.g. sending certain information to the Plan's members); and
- the Trustee is subject to fiduciary duties under trust law to act in line with the Plan's governing documentation.

It is necessary for us to process your personal information in order to comply with these legal obligations.

In order to fulfil our legitimate interests

Processing your personal information is also lawful if it is based on our 'legitimate interests'. The Trustee has a legitimate interest in running and managing the Plan and managing the Plan's risks and liabilities. In addition, certain third parties may have legitimate interests which require the processing of your personal information by the Trustee (e.g. your employer may need information in order to comply with regulatory requirements).

In order to rely on this legal ground, we have:

- considered the impact the processing has on your interests and rights; and
- implemented appropriate safeguards to ensure that your privacy is protected as far as possible.

What are our legal grounds for processing your sensitive personal information?

There are three legal grounds that allow us to process your sensitive personal information (sometimes referred to as special categories of personal data):

- when we obtain explicit consent from you (e.g. when you sign one of the Plan's forms which contains the appropriate consent wording);
- when processing is necessary for carrying out obligations under employment, social security or social protection law. This includes obligations under pensions law; and
- when processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest (which, under the Data Protection Act 2018, applies to certain processing by trustees of occupational pension schemes when making decisions about benefits).

What would happen if we did not collect and process your personal information?

If we did not collect and process your personal information then:

- we would not be able to manage or administer the Plan appropriately;
- we would not be able to pay the benefits that you are entitled to under the Plan; and
- we would be in breach of our legal and regulatory duties.

How long do we keep your personal information for?

The Plan was set up to provide benefits over a very long time. The Trustee needs to maintain records in order to properly run the Plan, to determine who should receive what level of benefits and when they should receive them, and to respond to any disputes about an individual's rights under the Plan.

As a result, the Trustee will generally keep your personal information for the lifetime of the Plan plus 15 years (the longest period of time that someone can bring a claim against the Plan). Our service providers (and former service providers) may also have similar valid grounds to keep your personal information for such long periods.

SECTION TWO

USING AND SHARING YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

How do we keep your personal information secure?

We use a range of measures to safeguard your personal information, in line with the requirements set out in the Data Protection Legislation. These apply to both paper and electronic records. We also require our third party service providers to give certain assurances and agree to contractual terms in respect of data protection and the security of your personal information.

What do we do with any personal information that is provided by third parties?

We receive personal information from sources other than directly from you. This includes information shared by your Plan employer, the Plan's administrator, its professional advisers, service providers and other relevant third parties. When we receive this information, we add it to the information we already hold about you in order to help us make sure that your details are as up to date and accurate as possible and so that we can manage your membership of the Plan and the Plan more generally.

Who do we share your personal information with?

For the purposes of administering and managing the Plan, managing its risks and liabilities, and paying benefits under it, the Trustee may need to share your personal information with third parties. This will include your employer (e.g. the payroll, finance, compliance, audit and HR teams). It will also include third parties who provide advice or services to the Trustee. These third parties may include actuaries, administrators, auditors, insurers, prospective insurers, lawyers, medical advisers, and any other such third parties as may be necessary for the operation of the Plan and to enable the Trustee to carry out its duties.

We've set out a list of the third parties with whom we share your personal information together with links to their data protection and privacy information.

Our suppliers and service providers who act as data processors must act in accordance with our instructions. Some of our suppliers and service providers also act as data controllers in respect of your personal information. We've included links to their online privacy information if you want to find out more about how they process your personal information.

In some circumstances, we may have to disclose your personal information by law, because a court or the police or other law enforcement agency has asked us for it. We may also need to pass your personal information to The Pensions Regulator or HM Revenue and Customs.

We may also share your personal data with the Plan's employers to enable them to carry out activities in their legitimate interests (this is usually in connection with managing their business from a regulatory, HR or finance perspective). Sometimes, in order to improve our knowledge and information of pension schemes generally (so that we may improve our ability to run the Plan appropriately, we pool the personal data we hold with that of other pension schemes through third parties (for example, to obtain up to date and more accurate longevity data).

SECTION THREE

YOUR RIGHTS AND WHO TO CONTACT

What rights do you have in respect of your personal information?

In certain circumstances, you have the following rights in respect of your personal information:

- the right to object to us processing your personal information;
- the right to request access to personal information relating to you;
- the right to request that we correct any mistakes in your personal information;
- rights in relation to automated decision taking;
- the right to request to restrict or prevent processing of your personal information;
- the right to request to have your personal information transferred to another data controller (e.g. if you decide to transfer your pension benefits to another pension scheme); and
- the right to request to have your personal information deleted.

We've set out more information about these rights in part two of the additional information.

How will we respond to your request?

We will usually respond to any request that you make in relation to your rights within a month of receiving your request. If your request is particularly complex, we will let you know that we've received your request and let you know when we aim to respond. You can find out more about your rights under the UK's data protection laws at www.ico.org.uk.

Under the UK's data protection legislation, there are exemptions which mean that, in certain circumstances, we may continue to store, process or transfer your personal information (for example where we need to comply with a legal requirement or have a legally valid legitimate interest in doing so) even if you ask us not to.

What should you do if you have any questions or complaints?

If you do not think that we have processed your data in accordance with this notice, please contact us in the first instance (see 'How to contact us' below). If you are not satisfied, you can complain to the Information Commissioner's Office. Information about how to do this is available on their website at www.ico.org.uk/concerns

MORE ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE GDPR

As a data subject, you have a range of rights under the Data Protection Legislation. These rights are explained in more detail below. If you have any comments, concerns or complaints about our use of your personal information, please contact us directly.

You can email penions@next.co.uk or write to us at:

Alternatively, you can call us on 0116 2842857.

Right to object to our processing of your personal information

You may object to us processing your personal information where we are relying on a legitimate interest as our legal grounds for processing. Our legal grounds for processing are set out in section one of this detailed data privacy notice and part one of the further information.

If you have the right to object to processing (i.e. for personal information that we process in order to fulfil our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of a third party) and you exercise this right, we will no longer be able to process your personal information unless we can demonstrate compelling grounds for continuing to do so. We believe we have demonstrated compelling grounds as set out in section one of this privacy notice and in part one of the further information.

The key point to note is that, if we cannot continue to process your personal information, we would be unable to ensure that we are providing the correct level of benefits in respect of your membership of the Plan. As we are legally required to pay the correct level of benefits to the right people at the right time, in these circumstances we may have to delay or even stop payments / requests until we have sufficient information.

Right to access personal data relating to you

You can ask us to confirm whether we are processing your personal information. If we are, you may ask us to provide the following:

- a copy of your personal information (please note that, if you want more than one copy of your personal information, we reserve the right to charge a reasonable fee based on our administrative costs for the provision of such further copies);
- details of the purpose for which your personal information is being, or is to be, processed;
- details of the recipients or classes of recipients to whom your personal information is, or might be, disclosed, including, if the recipient is based in a country outside of the UK, what protections are in place in relation to the transfer to that recipient;
- the period for which your personal information is held (or the criteria we use to determine how long it is held);
- any information available about where we obtained your personal information; and
- confirmation as to whether we carry out any automated decision-making (including profiling) and, where we do, information about the logic involved and the envisaged outcome or consequences of that decision or profiling.

You can request a copy of your information by contacting the Pensions team, please see the "How to contact us" section. A copy of your request will be kept on your membership record. To help us find the information easily, please give us as much information as possible about the type of information you would like to see.

If, to comply with your request, we would have to disclose information relating to or identifying another person, we may need to obtain the consent of that person if possible. If we cannot obtain consent, we may need to withhold that information or edit the data to remove the identity of that person if possible.

There are certain types of information which we are not obliged to disclose to you, which include personal information which records our intentions in relation to any negotiations with you where disclosure would be likely to prejudice those negotiations.

Right to correct any mistakes in your information

You can require us to correct any mistakes (including adding missing information) in any of the personal information concerning you which we hold. Please contact us using the contact details set out at the beginning of this section.

Rights in relation to automated decision taking/making

The Trustee does not generally use automated decision making or profiling.

Automated decision making occurs when decisions are taken solely on automated processes. Under Data Protection Legislation, you have the right to ask that, if you are being evaluated (for example, when a bank carried out credit checks before making decisions on issuing loans or credit cards), any decisions are not solely based on automated processes and to have any decision reviewed by a member of staff.

These rights will not apply in all circumstances, for example where the decision is authorised or required by law and steps have been taken to safeguard your interests.

Right to request that we restrict the processing of your personal information

You may request that we restrict the processing of your personal information in any of the following circumstances:

- where you do not think that your personal information is accurate. In this case, we will start processing again once we have checked whether or not your personal information is accurate;
- where the processing is unlawful, but you do not want us to erase your information;
- where we no longer need the personal information for the purposes of our processing, but you need the information to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or
- where you have objected to processing because you believe that your interests should override our legitimate interests. In this case, we will start processing again once we have checked whether or not our legitimate interests override your interests.

If our processing is restricted in any of the circumstances described above, we will inform you in advance if that restriction is to be lifted.

Right to request that we delete your personal information

You can ask us to delete your personal information where your personal information is being processed on a legal ground other than for complying with a legal obligation and:

- you believe that we no longer need to process it for the purposes set out in this privacy notice;
- you had given us consent to process it, but you withdraw that consent and there is no other legal ground upon which we can process it;
- you have successfully objected to our processing it; or
- it has been processed unlawfully or has not been erased when it should have been.

Right to request transfer of your personal information

You may, in specified circumstances, ask a data controller to provide you with an electronic copy of personal information that you have provided to it, or to have such a copy transmitted directly to another data controller.

Those circumstances do not, however, generally apply in relation to our processing of your personal information in connection with the Plan. This is because:

- our legal grounds for processing will not normally be that you have consented to the processing; and
- we do not carry out processing by automated means.

Right to withdraw consent

We usually only request your consent when we ask you for sensitive personal data. You have the right to withdraw any consent you have given us at any point.

However, as highlighted above, the Trustee only requests sensitive personal data that is required to make decisions in respect of specific member benefits or complaints. If you withdraw your consent for us to process this information, we may have to delay or even stop payments / requests until we have sufficient information.
